

WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

YONKERS.

John Eversack, twenty-four years old, a Hungarian, living in Vine street, went to headquarters yesterday afternoon and gave himself up to Sergeant Osborne, who was at the desk. He said that in the forenoon he had been playing pool in the liquor-store of John Lucas, at Nepperhaem-ave. and High-st., with two strangers. A quarrel arose over the game, and Eversack alleged that, on leaving the saloon, he was attacked by them. In self-defense, he said, he drew a knife, but did not open it, and with the handle struck one of the men. Shortly after Eversack gave himself up, Policeman O'Connor reported that, while patrolling Ashburton-ave., he was called to Lucas's liquor store, and found that the man whom Eversack struck was William Wayland, of No. 346 Nepperhaem-ave. He had several scalp wounds, which were dressed by Dr. Leo. Eversack was arraigned on a charge of assault in the second degree on Wednesday morning.

Arthur Roberts, seven years old, and Thomas Mulvihill, nine years old, who were arrested on Sunday by Policeman Wright for attempting to enter the grocery store of H. S. McGrath, at No. 81 Riverside-ave., were arraigned before Judge Judah Kellogg yesterday. It came out that the father of the Roberts boy had disappeared and left his wife to support her five children. Arthur had been sent to the home at Peekskill, but had escaped. The Judge believed, from the evidence, that the Roberts boy had let Mulvihill into the store to break into the store, so he discharged the latter. The father of the Mulvihill boy, who was charged with the same offense, was arraigned on a charge of assault in the second degree on Wednesday morning.

The men will be quartered at the Hotel Hamilton, at the corner of Locust Hill-ave., and will sleep in the building. The Fire Commissioners have purchased the services of the men for the truck, two for the engine and one for the use of the chief engineer. These horses will be taken to the house this morning. Chief Mulvaney will start drilling the men at once.

The Smiths and Sons Carpet Company were arraigned yesterday on a charge of receiving stolen goods. The Rev. Mr. Pray is a veteran of the war. His subject will be "Sherman's March to the Sea." Henry L. Clarke, president of the village, is preparing to spend a month in the Rocky Mountains. Mrs. Richard Burnett and her daughter, Miss Anna, who have been spending the summer in the Catskills, have returned home much improved in health.

WHITE PLAINS.

Coroner Charles E. Birch held an inquest yesterday morning at Kensico over the body of J. Everett Knowlton, the young man who committed suicide at the home of Augustus Wall on Saturday night, and a verdict of suicide in accordance with the facts was returned. The autopsy showed he had shot himself through the brain. The young man's father, Mr. Knowlton, of Armonk, has taken charge of the body, and the funeral will be held on Thursday at 11 o'clock. The young man's father says he was not in his right mind. He was once in the Middletown Asylum for the Insane, and was discharged as cured, but he has not since been sane. He went to Mr. Wall's house and wanted to see the daughter, to whom he had for a long time tried to win attention, but who repulsed him every time. It is thought he intended to kill her and her father, as well as himself, but he shot her father away from home, and, although he shot several times at the father, he did not hit him.

MOUNT VERNON.

The Mount Vernon Hospital, after having been of great service for over two years, was closed last night, in accordance with the statement given out by the directors. The funds on hand were insufficient to maintain the institution longer than August 31. The patients now occupying the wards will be cared for until cured, but no more patients will be admitted. When and by what means the hospital will be reopened is a matter for conjecture. It is generally believed that the Common Council will take the matter in hand and support the institution by an annual appropriation.

NO STRIKE IN BAXTER-ST.

The BROTHERS OF WORK OF THE "BARKERS" RE-PRODUCED BY THE BOSSES, AND THERE IS HARMONY ALL AROUND.

Anybody who has ever walked through Baxter or Hester st. when business is at its height knows that the "barkers" earn their money, whatever it is. Business in Hester-st. is of the athletic variety. The "barkers" are an up-to-date statement of the fact that they are a part of the labor union, which they call the Salesmen's Union. They have of late been engaged in a contest with their employers, who are banded together into what seems to be the "barkers" as a most suspicious organization called the Downtown Clothing Merchants' Association. The "barkers" have a delegate called Friday, who is sent to treat with the employers. Either the employers did not like his name or his face, or something. At any rate they refused to recognize him.

For all that, however, the "barkers" will not strike. At their meeting at No. 56 Orchard-st. last night this decision was arrived at. Mr. Friday, the delegate referred to, reported that a committee of the "bosses" at a meeting held in the afternoon, and the "bosses" had agreed to reduce the "barkers' hours of work from eleven to eleven hours a day. This was the main bone of contention, and the proposed strike was rapturously declared off.

THE WORLD'S 54TH END.

IT IS DUE TO-MORROW AND THE APOSTOLIC CONGREGATION WILL BE IN UNION SQUARE TO GREET IT.

The announcement made in yesterday morning's Tribune that the world is coming to another end to-morrow will at once give rise to a query as to how many ends the world can have. By actual count made by an expert as to the ends of the world, this terrestrial globe has already come to 543 ends. The 54th is due to-morrow. This is so because Mr. Stutzke says so. Not only does Mr. Stutzke say so, but William Redwood says so as well. Until recently Redwood was a life-insurance solicitor. But the life-insurance business was dull, and so Redwood went into the prophecy business on the side. Just how prophecy helps the life-insurance business, however, is not apparent, for if everybody is going to migrate, what is the use of insuring one's self? Still, Redwood is a prophet.

Stutzke, Redwood & Co. reason somewhat in this line. General Grant died July 23, 1885. The next year after that was 1886 and six years later Grover Cleveland was elected President of these United States. When it is considered, too, that the very next year after this was the year of the World's Fair, that in 1894 Coxey's Army advanced on Washington, and that on August 28, 1896, Li Hung Chang entered New-York Harbor, it must be evident to the most prejudiced and unwelcome mind that the end of the world is just about to occur. Further evidence of the fact that the world is coming to another end is found in the fact that Mr. Fleming was acquitted on June 24, 1896, and that on July 10, William Jennings Bryan was named as the high priest of Popocracy and Repudiation!

Wherefore the Christian Apostolic Congregation, which ordinarily meets at No. 154 East Fifty-fourth-st., will to-morrow morning vary its programme and assemble in Union Square to the number of about a hundred and will let the clouds roll by.

Stutzke and Redwood have been for some time in an ecstatic condition common to latter-day prophets and members of the Society for the Annihilation of Prohibition. But some of their followers have been giving them a little trouble by asking foolish questions. They wanted to know if their children would be taken with them when they ascend from Union Square to-morrow morning. Redwood answered them that they would look after their own children—he had troubles enough of his own. Then they wanted to know how far they would have to fly and whether they would get tired. Stutzke answered that there was no flying about it. They would just go up—that was all. The prophets kept their tempers admirably considering the stupidity of these questions, but when one devotee inquired with a rapid expression whether the police would let them go up, Stutzke and Redwood both decided that they had no time to bother with worldly matters.

So if you see a motley crowd of grown-up babies in Union Square gazing intently at the sun to-morrow morning, don't think it is an eclipse or that Ward's Island has let loose its inhabitants on the city. Just go about your business calmly. It is only the end of the world. Remember, too, that the Tribune will be here on Thursday morning. It will have a full, graphic and accurate account of the end of the world and of Li Hung Chang's visit to Brooklyn.

A number of Stutzke's followers met in Brevoort Hall, in East Fifty-fourth-st., last night. One of the gathering gave a new version of the facts that he had heard yesterday when they had selected Union Square as the place from which to descend to Heaven. "We do not expect," he said, "to desert the flesh. We expect to reach the end of all our sufferings and enter a new and, of course, a strange world. We will be glorified. At daybreak, according to our belief, a strange light will appear, and the system of our bodies will be changed. This sensation will continue until noon, when the final step, earthly we to heavenly bliss will be made. It will be a thirty-second-st., and East River, where he baptized thirteen persons in his faith. The only Chinese who were baptized in this city was Immerser. She was Mrs. S. M. Carman, of 100 West 10th-st. The ceremony consisted of wading into the water. After the ceremony the new believers went to the harbor, where they returned their old garments for dry ones. Mrs. Carman, the American convert, said after the meeting: "My great-grandfather, who owned the land on which the Amoske farm, which extended from Broadway to the East River, and from there to the Trinity Corporation. When I was old enough to understand the world, I heard that the Trinity Corporation was going to build a new city. I was looking for an honest people. I have found it in Mrs. S. M. Carman. I expect to be sanctified on Wednesday between dawn and noon."

It extended as far west as Pittsburgh, and along the coast as far as Washington, and as far north as Portland, Me. About 20 inches of rain fell. The storm arose rather suddenly. In the morning at 8 o'clock there was only about 74 per cent of humidity in the air. Soon after 9 o'clock last evening the rain ceased and the sky began to clear slowly. At a late hour last night the moon was visible. The high humidity did not cause any discomfort, for the weather promise colder weather still for to-day, with fair skies and northerly winds.

It is probable, however, that she will be unable to act for a considerable time. The new motor will be run on the elevated structure from Rector-st. northward, and is designed to draw five passenger coaches, the same number as are now drawn by the company's steam locomotives.

MISS KIMBALL UNABLE TO ACT. Miss Grace Kimball, the leading woman of E. H. Sothern's company, is seriously ill at the home of her mother, at No. 119 West Forty-fourth-st. She was to appear to-night at the Lyceum Theatre, in the first performance of Mr. Sothern's new play, "An Enemy to the King." It is probable, however, that she will be unable to act for a considerable time. Miss Virginia Harned, who is the leading woman of Mr. Sothern's company for some time, has been engaged to take Miss Kimball's place for the present.

COLD WEATHER TO FOLLOW THE RAIN. The rainstorm that visited this city yesterday afternoon was of a widespread character. It extended as far west as Pittsburgh, and along the coast as far as Washington, and as far north as Portland, Me. About 20 inches of rain fell. The storm arose rather suddenly. In the morning at 8 o'clock there was only about 74 per cent of humidity in the air. Soon after 9 o'clock last evening the rain ceased and the sky began to clear slowly. At a late hour last night the moon was visible. The high humidity did not cause any discomfort, for the weather promise colder weather still for to-day, with fair skies and northerly winds.

PROGRESS WITH THE NEW AIR MOTORS. The new steel flasks for the power plant of the company which is to put an air motor on the Sixth-ave. line of the Manhattan Railway Company are now being delivered in a building on Greenwich-st., which has been leased for one year. The new motor will be run on the elevated structure from Rector-st. northward, and is designed to draw five passenger coaches, the same number as are now drawn by the company's steam locomotives.
